These days it is not unusual to see people listening to music or using their electronic gadgets while crossing busy roads or travelling in public transports regardless of the risks involved. I have often wondered why they take such risks – is it because they want to exude a sense of independence or is it that they want to tell the world to stop bothering them ? Or is it that they just want to show how cool they are ? Whether it is a workman or an executive, earphones have become an inseparable part of our lives, sometimes even leading to tragicomic situations.

The other day an electrician had come to our house to fix something. We told him in detail what needed to be done. But after, he left I found that the man had done almost nothing. It later turned out that he could not hear our directions clearly because he had an earphone. Hundreds of such earphone addicts commute by the Delhi metro everyday. While one should not begrudge anyone their moments of privacy or their love for music, the fact is ‘iPod oblivion’ can sometimes be very dangerous.

- (i) Which social problem or cause is mentioned in this passage ? 01
- (ii) Why didn't the electrician carry out the work properly. 01

Near the bridge, there is a swimming pool where children get training on May and June. The new trainees are generally seen practicing to the river bank. They are not allowed to go by a certain point. Beside the bridge, there are small boats anchored and one can enjoy boating before a very nominal payment.
